2.6.1 – Program outcomes, program specific outcomes and course outcomes for all programs offered by the institution

Programme and course outcomes for all Programmes offered by the institution are stated and displayed on website and communicated to teachers and students.

Response: The College offers a number of courses/programmes, both at undergraduate and postgraduate levels under the affiliation of West Bengal State University. The college uses different mechanisms and practices to communicate Programme outcomes and Course outcomes to all stakeholders. The motivation for doing so is to provide the students and the teachers a clear and comprehensive idea of the courses so their learning objectives are met. While defining the learning outcomes, much care is taken so that they describe the knowledge, skills and competencies that students are expected to acquire as a result of completing their programme of study.

1.The programme outcome (PO), programme specific outcome (PSO) and course outcome (CO) of all programmes and courses are made available explicitly in the College website. Further, the syllabi of all of the programmes are made available online (in the college website) and offline (in the departments). Moreover, the College Prospectus provides the basic structures of all programmes offered by the college.

2.The outcomes are communicated to the faculty-members by the IQAC and the departmental heads. The faculties take active participation in formulation and review of the outcomes. The outcomes are monitored using online software.

3.The course outcome clearly reflects the knowledge and skills that the students will acquire by learning a course, and it defines the cognitive processes a course provides.
